FABIO BRECCIA - Bio

Director: TV Commercials/Music Videos/Documents

Fabio's passion for art started at a very young age with writing and photography. At 16 he picked up a camera and started filming his skateboarding crew and his band rehearsals.

He went to film school in Italy when he was 20 and at 22 went onto win a grant for the second time round to attend the internationally renowned Cinecitta' Film School.

He moved to Rome and started working in television specializing in documentaries that took him all over the world.

Fascinated by provocative, visual aesthetics Fabio was naturally drawn to the world of fashion and beauty and has been working on commercials for the past 10 yrs. He's very familiar with VFX and uses the visual technology to emphasize emotions and narrative in his works.

His simple and empathetic approach allows Fabio to work brilliantly with kids and people who aren't used to being in front of the camera, he has the ability to keep everyone at ease so they can deliver natural performances.

Fabio is a real people person, the way he approaches projects is totally unique, he's always looking for the human factor in whatever he does. Far from delivering works that are cold, corporate, generic or purely commercial he finds a way to express and communicate his message with warmth and emotion. His ongoing search to tell stories and discover new worlds has him travelling around the globe filming documentaries, commercials and promotional videos.
